

Here Is An Excellent Floor Plan

A glance at the floor plan of this unusually well arranged home will interest anyone planning to build. Compactly designed so that all of the space is utilized, the best advantage has been taken in the grouping of rooms and the saving of unnecessary steps. The breakfast alcove in the kitchen, while small, is a convenience of first importance. With this interior arrangement, and a pleasing exterior appearance, this home will suit many a prospective home builder.

In addition to this plan, we have many others, which we will be pleased to show you and give you an estimate on cost of material. We can furnish Blue Prints of any plan you may select, and we most cordially invite you to call and talk over your building problems, and inspect our stock of building material.

Next week's plan will appear in this space.

How much war trophies are actually worth depends on whose neck was risked to get them. John G. James' room in an Omaha, Neb., boarding house was rifled of all his A. E. F. souvenirs from a medal-laden belt captured from a German major, iron crosses picked up from the battle-field, the gas mask he had used in many battles, Red Cross bags containing shrapnell extracted from his wounds, a silver cigarette case taken from a German prisoner, to his American Legion button. He told the court they were worth $10,000. But the law only compelled the landlord to pay $50, because the trophies were in a suitcase at the time they were stolen.

Had Delightful Program
Tuesday afternoon, February 21, 1922, was a memorable occasion for The South Side Mother's club when The North Side Mother's club accepted their invitation to hold a joint meeting with them. Mrs. Ranney, of Greenville, gave a very interesting address on "The Responsibility of Parents". She emphasized the fact that children must be taught respect for and obedience to lawful authority. Mrs. Ranney being well acquainted with work being done in numerous mothers clubs, which she has organized, informed the club of many ways in which they might be of service to the community. "The Seven Great Sins Against Childhood" by Angelo Patri, was read by Mrs. Clyde Knapp. The meaning of the author was so clearly brought out that it was of great benefit to her hearers. The Misses Whelan, Raynor and Drybread sang a trio "May-Time" by Clara Rasi-Ricci and delightfully responded to an encore, "It Was a Lover and His Lass", by G. W. Chadwick. Miss Spencer accompanied. A piano solo, "Toccata" by A. D. Dupon, was very charmingly played by Dorothy Brown, who responded to an encore, "La Sennambula", by Leyback. A mystery box which proved to be of much interest as well as success was won by Mrs. Peter Engemann. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 21st at 3:30 in the 2nd ward school building. Everybody invited.
